

Getting place to park for fireworks need not be a matter of luck

More than 1,000 downtown spaces will be available today for Fourth of July celebrants — but with a typical crowd of 150,000 expected, they could go fast. Six city-owned lots near Ah-Nab Awen Park will have the gates up, and 657 spaces beneath DeVos Place will be available for $8. The city's four ramps will be open for $7. Ellis Parking will open its space at Bridgewater Place, next to the Ford Museum, for $7. Other Ellis facilities will be open at flat rates from $5 to $10.
