

A map of Tajikistan, a landlocked country in Central Asia. The country is colored in a light yellow or cream color, with its internal administrative boundaries shown as thin black lines. The word "Tajikistan" is written in a large, bold, black sans-serif font across the center of the country. In the southeastern part of the country, a red dot marks the location of Khorog, with the name "Khorog" written in a smaller black font next to it. The surrounding areas, representing neighboring countries, are shown in a light gray color. Some blue lines and shapes represent rivers and lakes, including the Amu Darya river to the south and several lakes in the northern and eastern parts of the country.
