

Alcala City.

Baron Berendo's country house,
called Plainfield.

The Prince-Elector's manor house, called Winters.

to Baron Berendo,
In belief of the good reception and honours that Your Lordship bestows on all sort of works, as a lord so inclined to favor good arts, chiefly those who by their nobleness do not submit to the service and bribery of the vulgar. It is my earnest hope that Your Lordship's good counsel in regard to my honourable purpose, will not disdain the littleness of so humble a service.

Charles De Lancy.

Lord Marconus' manor house, called Briarwood.

Count Gort's manor house, called Traverso.

Count Swan's estate, called Quarterlands.

