

CHARLESTON

South Carolina
HISTORIC DISTRICT

In the heart of Charleston is an beautiful National Historic Landmark District. With an unparalleled collection of 16th and 18th-century architectural styles, including unique Charleston "single houses," the district is a veritable treasure trove of history and culture. Originally founded as Charles Town to honor King Charles II of England, Charleston has witnessed national disasters and the ravages of war to still be regarded as America's Most Friendly City. If you love history, this is where history lives.

DOCK STREET
The Dock Street Theatre, located in the heart of Charleston, South Carolina, is a historic building that has served as a theater since 1786. The building is a prime example of Charleston's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for theatergoers.

HERSHEMAN HALL
Hersheman Hall, built between 1819 and 1821 by and for the Hersheman family, is a prime example of Charleston's architectural heritage. The building is a fine example of the city's unique style and is a popular destination for visitors.

THE BAY FERT & WHITE STREET GARDEN
The Bay Fert & White Street Garden is a public garden located in the heart of Charleston. It is a beautiful space for relaxation and recreation, and is a popular destination for visitors.

DEFENDERS OF CHARLESTON
The Defenders of Charleston are a group of men who fought bravely to defend the city during the American Revolutionary War. Their sacrifice is remembered and honored in the city.

DEFENDERS OF FORT MOUTRIER
The Defenders of Fort Moutrier were a group of men who fought bravely to defend the fort during the American Revolutionary War. Their sacrifice is remembered and honored in the city.

RAINBOW BOYS
The Rainbow Boys were a group of men who fought bravely to defend the city during the American Revolutionary War. Their sacrifice is remembered and honored in the city.

UNITED STATES CUSTOMS HOUSE
The United States Customs House is a historic building located in the heart of Charleston. It is a fine example of the city's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for visitors.

OLD EXCHANGE & PROVOST UNDERGIRD
The Old Exchange & Provost Undergird is a historic building located in the heart of Charleston. It is a fine example of the city's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for visitors.

OLD SLAVE MARY MUSEUM
The Old Slave Mary Museum is a historic building located in the heart of Charleston. It is a fine example of the city's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for visitors.

NATHANIEL BENNETT HOUSE
The Nathaniel Bennett House is a historic building located in the heart of Charleston. It is a fine example of the city's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for visitors.

LEGEND

- Yellow Center
- Historic District Border
- Water Features
- Public Restrooms
- Shuttle Stops
- 205-C of Argonne
- 211 Meeting/King
- 213 Lockwood/Calhoun

CHARLESTON
Following major damage to the city during the Revolutionary War, the British withdrew from Charleston in 1780. The city was then rebuilt and became a major center of the South. The city's unique architecture and history make it a popular destination for visitors.

GATEWAY WALK
The Gateway Walk is a scenic path that runs through the heart of Charleston. It is a beautiful space for relaxation and recreation, and is a popular destination for visitors.

FORE SUMMIT
The Fore Summit is a historic building located in the heart of Charleston. It is a fine example of the city's architectural heritage and is a popular destination for visitors.

PATRIOTS
The Patriots are a group of men who fought bravely to defend the city during the American Revolutionary War. Their sacrifice is remembered and honored in the city.