

Magnitogorsk

A map of the southern Urals region in Russia, centered on the city of Magnitogorsk. The map shows numerous industrial towns and cities, many of which are interconnected by a network of yellow dashed lines forming a grid-like pattern. The towns are labeled in Russian, including Uspenka, Basu, Terekla, Chik-Yelga, Tokman, Tash-Asty, Saitbaba, Voskresenka, Sosnovka, Kuyli-Tamak, Kyryn-Yurt, Starosaitovo, Sterlitamak, Askarova, Ishimbay, Yuryuk, Yaltran, Tumerkino, Kashelya, Sergayev, Bashkirya, Srednyaya Beterya, Starosubkhangulovo, Ishbuldy, Talaubash, Khalilovo, Yalchino, Kumertau, Kananikol'skoye, Baimovo, Vtoroye Itkulovo, Verkhnyaya Mayka, Shielaputovo, Tukatovo, Tretye, Myatkisya, Novomuraptalovo, Maksyutovo, Zirikly, Yuldybayevo, Zilairskiy, Murzina, Krasnyy-Ural, Komintern, Karabutak, Novaya Moskva, Bredy, Bolotovsk, and Zheltikova. The city of Magnitogorsk is marked with a red dot and labeled 'Magnitogorsk'. To the north, the city of Chelyabinsk is labeled 'CHELYABINSK'. To the east, Yuzhno-Ural'sk and Troitsk are shown. The map also features several rivers, including the Belaya River, the Ural River, and the Tura River.