

A map showing a location marked with a red dot. The name 'Ostrogozhsk' is written in black text above the dot. The map features green, textured areas representing land or vegetation, and a light blue background representing water. An orange line, likely a road or railway, runs vertically on the right side of the map, with a green rectangular label 'E115' positioned near the top. The red dot is located in the lower-middle part of the map, slightly to the left of the orange line.
