

A map of Russellville, Indiana, showing the town's location relative to the Wabash River and surrounding roads. The town is highlighted in orange and is situated along the Wabash River, which flows from the top right towards the bottom right. The town's layout includes a grid of streets and a main road running north-south. The river is labeled "Wabash River" in blue text. The town name "Russellville" is written in bold black text across the center of the town area.