

The Battle of Voznesensk

- 1 On March 1, the Russian military column departs Kherson headed north and northeast.
- 2 To reach Odessa, the column must cross the Southern Bug in Mykolaiv or Voznesensk. The river runs in a deep canyon and can only be crossed via bridge.

- 3 The column reaches Voznesensk, where the bridge over the Mertvovod tributary of the Southern Bug has been destroyed by local forces, stopping the northward progression.
- 4 After two days of fighting, most of the column is destroyed. Survivors escape east toward Bashtanka.
