

A map of Mali with its borders outlined in a dark red line. The interior of the country is white, while the surrounding areas are a light tan color. The word "Bamako" is written in a large, bold, black sans-serif font in the lower-left portion of the white area. Directly below the text is a black star icon enclosed within a thin black circle. The map is overlaid with a repeating pattern of the word "alamy" in a light tan font and small lowercase "a" characters.

Bamako

© 2012 Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc.