

public transport system.
 A single ride costs 1.80€, better to buy a 24-hour ticket (5.70€), or a week pass. 14.00 € valid May-Sept (that is also good for night buses, which otherwise cost 2.60 per trip, from 11pm to 1am). If you are leaving give your ticket to the driver. (Night bus fare is 2.00€). Have fun with the vending machine or buy it at a tobacco shop. Stamp them before the first use at the orange machines. The tube (U-Bahn) runs 10 half past midnight, then it's night buses. There's an abundance of them going round the ring road. If you're heading for your pillow, take any of them to where you want to go (first leaves 1am, then every 30 mins till morning). The underground finishes at 12:30 & starts up again at 5am so a real party people can get the first one home in the morning, or make like a Viennese & enjoy a leisurely cafe breakfast with drunks before you go to bed. Tip: Walking around the city this early in the morning is magical, you can have the place quite to yourself! Following a successful public vote, the "U-Bahn" underground will additionally be running all through Friday & Saturday night from autumn 2010. happy day!!!!!! Visit for Vienna network at www.viennanetwork.at